Third Quarter 2026 Financial Results

Total net revenues. Total net revenues were RMB8.32 billion (US$1.24 billion), representing an increase of 8% from the same period of 2025.

Advertising. Revenues from advertising were RMB3.09 billion (US$460.4 million), representing an increase of 20% from the same period of 2025, mainly attributable to the Company's improved advertising product offerings and enhanced advertising efficiency.

The Company used approximately US$100 million of the offering proceeds to concurrently repurchase 6,795,540 Class Z ordinary shares (each represented by one ADS) (the "Concurrent Repurchase"), leaving approximately US$400 million in gross proceeds before offering costs.

In addition, the Company entered into an agreement with subsidiaries of Tencent Holdings Limited for the subscription of an additional US$200 million in aggregate principal amount of the Notes (the "Tencent Notes Subscription") and a concurrent repurchase of US$200 million of its Class Z ordinary shares (the "Concurrent Tencent Repurchase"). The Concurrent Repurchase and the Concurrent Tencent Repurchase were made pursuant to the Company's special share repurchase program (the "Special Share Repurchase Program"), which is separate from the Company's two-year US$300 million share repurchase program approved by the Board of Directors in June 2026 (the "2026 Program"). Under the Special Share Repurchase Program, the Company repurchased a total of 20,386,630 Class Z ordinary shares for an aggregate amount of US$300 million. Pursuant to the 2026 Program, a total of 2.9 million of the Company's listed securities have been purchased for a total cost of approximately US$49.2 million as of the date of this announcement, with the remaining amount under the 2026 Program being approximately US$250.8 million.

Use of Non-GAAP Financial Measures

The Company uses non-GAAP financial measures such as adjusted profit from operations, adjusted net profit, adjusted net profit margin, adjusted net profit per share and per ADS, basic and diluted and adjusted net profit attributable to Bilibili Inc.'s shareholders in evaluating its operating results and for financial and operational decision-making purposes. The Company believes that the non-GAAP financial measures help identify underlying trends in its business by excluding the impact of share-based compensation expenses, amortization expense related to intangible assets acquired through business acquisitions, income tax related to intangible assets acquired through business acquisitions, gain/loss on fair value change in investments in publicly traded companies and loss on repurchase of convertible senior notes. The Company calculates adjusted net profit margin by dividing the adjusted net profit by revenue for the same period. The Company believes that the non-GAAP financial measures provide useful information about the Company's results of operations, enhance the overall understanding of the Company's past performance and future prospects and allow for greater visibility with respect to key metrics used by the Company's management in its financial and operational decision-making.

The non-GAAP financial measures are not defined under U.S. GAAP and are not presented in accordance with U.S. GAAP and therefore, may not be comparable to similar measures presented by other companies. The non-GAAP financial measures have limitations as analytical tools, and when assessing the Company's operating performance, cash flows or liquidity, investors should not consider them in isolation, or as a substitute for net profit, cash flows provided by operating activities or other consolidated statements of operations and cash flows data prepared in accordance with U.S. GAAP.

The Company mitigates these limitations by reconciling the non-GAAP financial measures to the most comparable U.S. GAAP performance measures, all of which should be considered when evaluating the Company's performance.

For more information on the non-GAAP financial measures, please see the table captioned "Unaudited Reconciliations of GAAP and Non-GAAP Results."
